

Bowtech Admiral Review: By Dave Ziegler.

When thinking of the new 2009 Bowtech Admiral, one word come to mind and that word is, FAST! Well actually, when thinking of the new 2009 Bowtech Admiral, several words come to mind. Fast, well balanced, whisper quite, vibration free. These are just a few of the descriptive words I would use to describe the 09 Admiral. After ten years of shooting the competitions model, I was convinced to switch. I was not convinced by a friend or a high pressure salesman, I was convinced by the performance of the bow itself. After shooting the Admiral several dozen times, I would explain it like this. I would equate the Bowtech Admiral and the competition's comparable model to two high end luxury touring sedans. They both have leather seats, they both have twelve speaker surround sound, they both all of the newest handling features and they both draw a good crowd when you pull up in front of the club. Only difference for me was, the Bowtech simply handles better and I felt more confident behind the wheel. I would certainly recommend you get out and test drive the new 2009 Bowtech Admiral.

Check out the new 2009 Bowtech Admiral for yourself:

http://www.bowtecharchery.com/bow_admiral.php

